Accounting majors have achieved professional certification (CPA, CMA, etc.) and many have gone on to earn graduate degrees. The baccalaureate Accounting program, when combined with the College's Master of Science degree in Management, meets the state of Virginia's 150-hour educational requirement to become a CPA. Upon completion of the bachelor's degree, you may enroll in the graduate program and are exempt from any graduate admission exams.

Advising Notepad Notes for Jeff Elliott

(11/17/01) Jeff and I have spoken about his potential change to being a Marketing Major. We've chosen courses for next semester that will fit both, and he will make the decision prior to Spring Registration for Fall Courses. - LCZ

(4/7/02) Jeff has decided to stick with the Accounting Major, but has decided to add an International Finance Minor. I've spoken with Kevin Smith from that department, and he has agreed to meet with Jeff, and get him caught up with the necessary details. I will remain as his principal advisor. - LCZ

(9/12/02) Jeff, don't forget to see Kevin in the Int. Finance Dept. before we do course selection prior to finalizing your Fall schedule. You were also going to look into Grad programs, and what additional courses you might want to take to help meet that goal. - LCZ
